

THE FIRST LEGISLATURE OF THE PROVINCE OF ALBERTA OPENS TO - DAY.

THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE IN FULL

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY:

It affords me great pleasure to welcome you to the performance of your duties upon this the occasion of the opening of the First Legislature of the Province of Alberta.

The advent of Provincial Autonomy in this and in our sister province of Saskatchewan is a matter of gratification and pride not only to our own people but to the Dominion as a whole, and in your name I thank the people of the older Provinces for the expressions of goodwill towards us voiced in the Addresses adopted in their respective representative Assemblies, and greet them as kinsmen in the great family of Confederation into which we now are proud to enter. I congratulate each one of you upon being privileged to take part in an event fraught with so much importance to this Dominion, and particularly to Western Canada, as the opening of this first representative Assembly in the Province.

Our thanks are due to Divine Providence for the bountiful harvest with which we were blessed during the past year. Inasmuch as the fruits of the soil are at the basis of the material prosperity of any country the glorious heritage to which the people of this Province have been called justifies a boundless confidence in its future.

It is my privilege on your behalf to offer to Our Sovereign Lord King Edward the Seventh and to Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Alexandra the continued loyalty and devotion of our people. It is a matter of gratification to us that we are shortly to be honoured by a visit from His Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught.

It is with pleasure that I extend a welcome on your behalf to the settlers that have poured into this Province during the past year; and while it is a matter of congratulation that settlement has increased with such unparalleled activity it is still more gratifying to observe the high standard of the character of that immigration. It shall be the especial care of my Government to encourage such settlement by every available means.

All sections of the Province bear evidence of steadily increasing activity and enterprise on the part of our people, especially in agriculture, dairying and kindred pursuits. The rapid advancement and growing importance of the dairying industry requires that sufficiently ample provision be made for its assistance and encouragement by my Government, and in this connection the establishment and maintenance of creameries controlled by the Government will be a matter to which your attention will early be directed. The importance of such provision to the farming community can scarcely be overestimated.

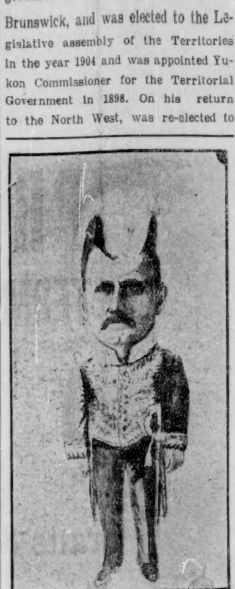

Proper provision for an active policy for the improvement of live stock and agriculture generally will also engage your attention. Measures will be submitted to you looking towards the registration of brands and the protection of those engaged in the industry of cattle raising. In this connection, also, it is felt that the public grant to exhibitions might well be somewhat augmented, and you will be asked to pass upon an amendment of the law in this regard.

The organisation of the Province upon proper constitutional lines is a matter of the first importance and in order that public affairs may be efficiently and expeditiously conducted it is necessary that the management of the several branches of the Public Service be put in charge of appropriate Departments. To this end measures will be submitted for your approval providing for the proper and efficient organisation of the several Departments of the Public Service.

The influx of immigration and rapid settlement of the Province renders imperative a progressive policy with regard to the construction and repair of roads and bridges, and your consent will be asked to the provisions it is proposed to make for this purpose.

GLORIOUS SUNSHINE GREETS THE OPENING.

"Happy is the bride," they say, "that the sun shines on." Alberta is wedded to the ideal of self government, and the opening ceremonies today by which she clasps hands with the future and accepts the responsibilities of the governance of her own household are blessed with the beautiful sunshine which is Alberta's most precious gift of the gods.

It is a beautiful day and the hundreds of guests who are gathered within our gates have an opportunity this afternoon to see Edmonton at her best. The city has recognized the occasion by a holiday, and there is no other business before the citizens today to see that parliament is opened with all due respect to the gravity of the occasion.

As the Bulletin goes to press the Lieutenant-Governor, escorted by his bodyguard, is proceeding to the Thistle rink to meet the legislature, and the big auditorium is thronged to the outergates with citizens who in the days to come—the days of Alberta's greatness—will be able to say that they were present when the first parliament in this province was opened.

Within the hour, the launching of the ship of state will have become a matter of history and the citizens of Alberta will be the guests of the cabinet at the reception at the Mackay avenue school, from where, during the balance of the session, the mandates will issue forth which will make and unmake the laws of the land.

What has been done within the past three or four days by the members of the Government and the legislature, the executive staff in the Government offices, the city council and the board of trade and the citizens themselves in preparation for the opening would fill a volume. There was the auditorium to get in readiness, decorations to be arranged, music, luncheons, and the hundred and one formalities to be provided for, to say nothing of looking after the comfort and pleasure of the guests of the city; and all has been done and done well.

On Monday evening there was ice enough on the rink to permit the last game of the Calgary Brewing Cup series to be played, and no later than last night, and all night long, the mechanics were more than busy getting the heating apparatus in position and making the building comfortable for the House and its guests. The decoration committee had a busy time of it, getting a wagonload or so of flags and bunting into place to give the auditorium the proper holiday hue, and the furniture was not much more than in place when the hour arrived. The house is laid out as a three-sided square, the speaker's chair next to the south entrance and the rows of desks, one long one for the members of the government and one very short row for the members of His Majesty's loyal—but rather attenuated—opposition. To the right and left of the entrance, in the ante rooms, are the retiring chambers of the Lieutenant-Governor and the speakers. The members of the legislature and their wives enter the building by the north door leading to the stage and they are shown their seats by the ushers who have the seating plan under their special care. The citizens as guests of the King and the legislature, enter by the main entrance, at the south door, and the only restriction on the number is the seating capacity of the auditorium, although those who are in receipt of invitations as the special guests of members of the legislature are being given their seats first, nearest to the speaker's chair.

When the members of the legislature are seated and the Lieutenant-Governor enters, the band strikes up the national anthem. Then proceeds the election of the speaker and the speech from the Throne, as described in the Bulletin of yesterday.

After the opening ceremonies, the members of the legislature will retreat to the assembly room of Mackay avenue school, where Premier and Mrs. Rutherford will hold a reception. No invitations have been issued and the reception is to be an altogether informal affair, everyone being welcome.

The alterations to the assembly room the school were only completed yesterday. Committee rooms for the Government and Opposition have been built in either corner, glass partitions being used. Along the sides there is a railing which divides the visitors gallery from the floor space occupied by the members, and the desks are arranged in parallel lines with the side walls, the speaker's chair being at the south end nearest to the entrance. Lunch will be served this afternoon in the space which will be occupied by the legislature during the session.

Four leading features of a piano are the touch, tone, volume and finish. In these the excells all others. This piano is the creation of a house whose ideals of artizanship for more than fifty years have ever been the highest.

A piano out of the ordinary. A piano that has reached a pitch of excellence away from the others.

THE CATHEDRAL HELD BY GUARDS

Authorities Frustrated in Attempt to Take an Inventory

Marselles, Mar. 14.—An exciting scene occurred today at the doors of the cathedral. The local authorities attempted to take an inventory under the church and state separation law, whereupon the Bishop, wearing his mitre and surrounded by his congregation, ordered the authorities not to enter the cathedral, and read a proclamation denouncing the law as renewing the evils which brought on the revolution and the reign of terror. The authorities withdrew from the cathedral. The doors and windows are heavily barred and grates have been fastened across the windows. A hundred men with rifles and provisions for a long siege are installed inside the building.

LAC STE ANNE NEWS

Lac Ste. Anne, Mar. 13.—Last week as Messrs. Armstrong, McConachie and Williamson were bringing three loads of G.T.P. supplies from Edmonton a serious runaway accident happened to them near Onaway. A bale of hay fell off one of the loads and frightened the team immediately behind causing it to run away. A general stampede of all the teams followed and before they could be controlled considerable damage was done. McConachie's wagon was so badly smashed that it had to be abandoned. Mr. Armstrong was thrown from his load and fell under the wagon. His head got tangled in the spokes and one wheel ran over his chest. How he escaped being killed is a miracle as his wagon was heavily loaded. It is reported that though badly cut and bruised about the face and chest no bones were broken, but it will be a long time before he will be able to resume work.

Nearly all the timber for the new bridges on the Lac Ste. Anne trail has been gotten out and the work of construction under the able supervision of Mr. D. McIntosh, inspector of bridges is progressing rapidly. In a short time we hope to see this trail made into a suitable wagon road for the accommodation of the hundreds of land seekers now passing by way of Lac Ste. Anne to the rich and inviting valleys of the Pembina and Poudre Rivers, of the numerous survey parties who utilize this trail to reach their respective fields of operation in the west, and of the enormous traffic of west bound freight, being daily transported to this village and to points beyond.

On Sunday last A. Michaud, D. L. S. who is subdividing west of the Pembina passed through the village on his way to Edmonton.

Two large parties of Americans, with loads of settlers supplies and effects went through here on Saturday last to the North Poudre, where they intend locating at once and making extensive improvements.

Last week Duncan Mackay, of Edmonton a travelling fur buyer, paid Lac Ste. Anne another visit and spent a day here.

A petition for a bi-weekly mail has been largely signed. The matter which arrives by our present weekly mail is very large and a bi-weekly service will do much to relieve the congestion at the post office on mail day and will also be of great advantage to the many who by mail do business with Edmonton firms.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mr. Ward our resident land guide and hope he will soon be able to resume his duties as his services are now in daily regulation.

EDMONTON AS IT WAS AND IS

(By Augustus Bridle, in the Canadian Graphic)

Edmonton is at present the hub of North-West development because it is the key to the Saskatchewan Valley. This progressive young city was a somewhat ancient town before it began to jolt its way into public imagination. It has been called a variety of names—some of them profane. No town in Canada has been the theatre of a greater variety of hopes and fears, and the recipient of more curses than Edmonton. One of our expatriated prose writers calls it the "City of Broken Hearts." He was altogether too sentimental for that country. A more acclimated way of expressing an opinion was that of an old Klondiker who had returned there having wasted his substance in riotous living. Expecting that he would recoup himself in Edmonton on the return trip he stayed a year. Then he suddenly left in a canoe down the Saskatchewan. Standing in his canoe as he turned the bend in the river he shook his fist at the last house and told the whole settlement to "go to hell."

There were always two reasons why so many people have jumped off at Edmonton; they always wanted to, and there was really no other place to go without going on foot. Edmonton is now in its fifth stage of development based on transportation. Beginning as old Fort Edmonton back in 1795 in was for three quarters of a century a mere trading post of the West Company, a market for furs, a rendezvous and fighting place for Crees, Stoney and Beavers. Up to the middle of the nineteenth century and beyond it was the farthest north unloading point of the York boats from Hudson's Bay. When the first permanent white settlers were attracted there by the fur trade and the hope of a railway—fond illusion!—the Red River cart became the vehicle of transportation, coming in caravans from Fort Garry 1000 miles distant. Some years before the Rebellion of 1855 steamers were on the river and superseded the carls. In 1892 the northern branch line of railway from the C. P. R. drove out the steamboats. In 1897 Klondikers made Edmonton a stamping-ground. In 1901 the first train came across the iron bridge. In December of 1905 the C. N. R. was completed to Edmonton. Such has been the once tardy, but lately very rapid and always picturesque evolution of this young metropolis on the Saskatchewan.

The writer lived in Edmonton during the transition days following the Klondike raid. Before going there he was warned by an ex-pupil of the Klondike that Edmonton always had a long hook for suckers. This may or may not have been true. Mostly everything was more or less true and certainly everything was abnormal about the Klondike era which was the time when Edmonton jumped into the newspapers. The town never tried to make a sucker out of the writer, who found as many warm-hearted people there as anywhere else in the world, and has only pleasant memories of it today, and certainly recollections much more unique than of any town in Canada.

Edmonton in the period following the Klondike era was just about at right angles with all one's previous conceptions. It was in a semi-torpid condition following a period of spectacular upheaval. Flies of money had been made during the year when the old fur town was the stamping-ground for seventeen nations. Men who had been ready to pull up stakes drove them down and hung on. Adventurers who had got sour on the overland route before they tried it stuck in the town and tried to freeze on to its dubious political economy. Some who went part way over the trail came back and did the same thing. And so for two or three years you could steer up against "knockers" and "touts" everywhere on that dog-leg of a street that used to be the only thoroughfare in Edmonton.

Besides having a bad attack of population Edmonton had two other maladies about that time. One was periodical, but not frequent—the wet season. This era of despairing rains began in 1899 and continued till 1902. It knocked all the weather-wise calculations of the old-timers silly. Nobody had ever seen a continuous three months of the sprinkling-can without more than a casual day of bright blue. Everybody cursed it. If there's one country in the world that ought to be proud of eternal blue skies it's the Alberta land. Naturally the settlers wanted to advertise one of their leading assets—a magnificent climate. But just in the time when population began to move in that direction the blue skies went out of business. The very night the writer landed there a fog hung over the Saskatchewan.

"Say," I remarked to a cheery tout who was making a small fortune out of pigs at Fort Saskatchewan, "do you have many of these fogs?"
 "Never had one before," he said.
 "Damned where this'n came from neither."
 There had always been dry summers which were far the best for crop-raising that the thawing of the frost made enough moisture, with about one rain, to mature oats and wheat. But the weather-cycle seemed to be changing, so said the old settlers. The influx of population had disturbed the ancient order. Snow in summer was always counted heterodox. That very year came an inch of snow on the 25th of August and eight inches a month later. Another freak of nature which nobody could explain. And yet in spite of all a good crop was pulled off, for the land was fat and fertile, the people had a big-faith, and they said the time was coming.

The other malady from which Edmonton was suffering then was chronic. It has since been permanently cured. It was lack of transportation. No train had ever come within whistling distance of Edmonton on the north side of the river. The C. and E. stopped at Strathcona, which was known as South Edmonton till local jealousy put a dab of red paint over the sign at the station. It was a dray haul of two miles from there to the old town across the river. Up till July of 1899 everything that kept Edmonton alive and hustling had to be drifted across on the old cable ferries with which that river was strung like a fiddle up till a year or so ago. The ferry was a big scow with a railing attached by a wire rope and a pulley to a wire cable across the river. Allowed to swing slantwise to the cable the current shoved it across and vice versa back again—the cheapest and slowest mode of transportation that ever struck the country. And after the ferry landed there was a long crooked haul up the 200 foot bank to the town. The iron bridge came in 1899 and Edmonton began to get back at Strathcona which up to that time had taken all the rises out of Edmonton. But it was more than a year before Mackenzie and Mann ran their spur into the town. Then in October 1901 there was another jubilation in which of course Strathcona failed to join, so admirably did they do towns scrap over developments. They had been at war ever since the first train ran into Strathcona and since the memorable fracas over the attempted removal of the land office from Edmonton across the river.

Even after the transportation problem began to be settled in favor of Edmonton the two towns took it out of each other's hide in hockey. There may be swift and lurid games of hockey in Ontario but for pure speed and hectic melodrama in the game put me off at Edmonton or Strathcona. At every match in either town the other town picked up its population and carted it over the river to root. Women went mad over it. Blood was drawn. Feuds were started and maintained for months, long after the summer sun had thawed out the four feet of frost in the prairie. It was the chief diversion of both towns for five months in the year.

This hectic rivalry was root-deep. Strathcona could see no good in Edmonton. Even the soil was said to be inferior; it was the same soil, the black alluvial deposit from one to four feet deep that raises oats a hundred bushels to the acre and wheat man-high. Then Edmonton was alleged to be an old town, one of the slow variety, too far out of date to have even a train. Strathcona had a large majority of Americans. Edmonton was considered English. The Klondike had made Edmonton—so it was said by the knockers; Strathcona was a natural growth. Ninety per cent. of the immigrants—and most of them Galicians—were distributed direct from Strathcona. The rest went from Edmonton eastward to the settlements. The paradox was that when the Galicians went to market they hit the sixty mile trail to Edmonton, crossing on the ferry at Fort Saskatchewan twenty-five miles down the river. And though Edmontonians generally were by no means enthusiastic over the personal appearance of the Galicians they found them satisfactory as customers and the makings of good citizens.

The somewhat infantile rivalry of these two young and progressive cities has now almost died out. Each is willing to concede a future for the other. So far as situation and scenery goes Edmonton has an advantage, being built along the high bank of the superb Saskatchewan. The drawback is that the back yards of the stores front along the river where there might easily be a handsome driveway and promenade.

—The Northern Bank, the first exclusively Western Banking Institution to open in Edmonton will commence business in a few days. The Head Office is in Winnipeg and the names of some of the most prominent business men of the West appear on the directorate, including that of Mr. John A. McDougall of this city. Sir Daniel McMillan is the President and Mr. J. W. de C. O'Grady, formerly Manager of The Bank of Montreal in Chicago, the general manager. Branches will be opened in all the important Cities and Towns from Fort William to the Coast. The Bank has purchased the Stovel Property, at the corner of Jasper and Queens avenue, where extensive improvements have been made. The Edmonton Branch will be under the management of Mr. L. M. McCarthy.

A SIGNIFICANT OCCASION

The opening of the first session of the first Legislature of Alberta is an event of historic interest and importance worthy of fitting celebration and of commemoration among the epoch marking occasions in the annals of Alberta. The assembling of a new Parliament is always an important and interesting event to the people whom it represents and over whom it exercises its control but the meeting of a first parliament marks the formal assumption of the larger powers and greater responsibilities of autonomy, the actual beginning of responsible government. While Provincial Institutions have been in existence in Alberta for some months the Government has exercised its functions not in obedience to the instructions or advice of the elected representatives of the people, but as a Provisional Government selected by the representative of the Crown for the administration of public affairs. While therefore the Government in the discharge of those functions has received the direct and overwhelming approval of the electors at the polls, the meeting of the House may be considered in a sense as marking the termination of provisional autocratic government and the real beginning of government according to British traditions and ideals. As such the occasion possesses a significance quite beyond the assemblage even of a newly elected legislature. As marking this event the meeting of the House completes the governmental system provided by the autonomy bill, the beginning of which system was signified by the inauguration ceremony a few months since, and signals the entry into the full rights and powers of provincehood, the formal acceptance of the privileges which were created by the autonomy bill and completed by the inaugural ceremony.

ROBLIN AND THE SCHOOLS

The signs are increasing that trouble is coming to the Roblin Government from its treatment of the so-called "public" school system of Manitoba. The latest indication of this is a very outspoken article in which the Western Banner, the official organ of the Orange Grand Lodge of Manitoba, practically accuses the Government of collusion in pressing certain demands of the Roman Catholics of Winnipeg on the Winnipeg school board, as a condition of the introduction of the compulsory education act in the legislature. The ground of the charge is the fact that the two Conservative members for Winnipeg successively "renewed" when asked by the board to present the bill and each evidenced his anxiety that the board should hear the proposals which the Roman Catholics wished to make to them. There were delays in the negotiations between the board and the members sufficient to allow of conferences with the members of the cabinet, and the reply of one of the members was so palpably beyond the literary capabilities of the gentleman as to lend color to the assumption that it was penned by another hand. The conclusion of the Banner is that the members, after consultation with the Government decided to attempt to force the hand of the school board by the penalty of blockading or defeating the desired legislation. The Grand Lodge of Manitoba, which was in session in Winnipeg at the time, with J. A. Argue, M. P. P., as Grand Master, passed a series of resolutions defining the position of the lodge on this and other matters. The series testifies to belief in God, confidence in the Roblin Government, a lack of faith in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and utter repudiation of the Banner and its charge, with due apologies to J. A. Argue, M.P.P., and Hon. D. McPadden for any suspicion these gentlemen may have entertained that the sentiments of the lodge harmonized with those of its organ. Unfortunately for Mr. Roblin, however, the sweeping resolutions of the Grand Lodge can only wipe out the sweet reasonableness of the Banner's contention nor the fact that such contention is supported by the general attitude which that gentleman and his colleagues have maintained toward the Manitoba school system. From the newspaper standpoint only a Winnipeg newspaper established beyond question that by the permission or with the collusion of the Roblin Government there has been built up in that province despite the school law, and under shelter of its provisions, a thorough system of "separate" schools, schools taught by members of religious orders in the garb of those orders and without the qualifications demanded of ordinary teachers, schools with "separate" text-books, inspected by a "separate" inspector and under "separate" privileges as to religious instruction. No responsible Conservative journalist has undertaken this charge of collusion of the evasion of the law, and the practical admission of collusion or consent in the perversion of the school system of the province lends strength and color to the Banner's suspicion of collusion in the manipulation of the Winnipeg school board's request.

THE FEDERAL BILL OF FARE

Following is the speech from the throne in which Earl Grey, Governor-General, outlined the legislative program for the present session of the Federal Parliament.

"Hon. gentleman of the Senate: 'Gentlemen of the House of Commons: 'In again summoning you to meet for the despatch of business I am glad to be able to congratulate you on the prosperity prevailing throughout the Dominion.

"The severe bereavement which Queen Alexandra has sustained through the death of her father, the King of Denmark, has occasioned much sorrow throughout the empire, and I am satisfied that the warm sympathy of the people of Canada will be readily extended to her Majesty.

"It afforded me much pleasure as the representative of His Majesty to take part in the inauguration of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan as constituent members of the Confederation. The universal rejoicing on the assumption of provincial autonomy everywhere visible was gratifying to witness, and I venture to say that in no part of the world could a more contented people be found. The universal sentiment was one of abounding confidence in the future.

"The bountiful harvest with which we have been blessed the past season, together with the continued development of our industries and transportation facilities have so stimulated business in all parts of Canada and have given such an impetus to our exports and imports that the trade both with the United Kingdom and foreign countries for the current fiscal year gives promise of being the largest on record.

"The flow of immigrants seeking homes in the three prairie provinces still continues, and from the present outlook, the number will be in excess of any previous year, and it is gratifying to note the increasing proportion from the British Isles.

A treaty on behalf of Canada has now been concluded between the United Kingdom and Japan, which, it is confidently hoped, will largely increase our trade with the people of that progressive empire. When the formal documents have been received they will be laid before you.

"The rapid destruction of our forests now going on will, unless the operations of the lumbermen be prudently regulated in the future and a system of reforestation adopted, result in grave consequences, affecting the uniform flow of our rivers, and limiting our valuable water powers to a few months in the year. A bill will be submitted for your consideration, empowering the Government to set apart forest reserves on lands under its control.

"In accordance with the offer made by my Ministers to the Government of the United Kingdom, the Imperial Treasury has now been relieved of the cost of garrisoning Halifax, and arrangements are in progress for taking over the defence of Esquimaux, and hereafter detachments of the permanent force of Canada will have charge of both those important stations.

"You will be invited to consider the propriety of making such a change in the fiscal year as will bring it more into harmony with the active business season.

"The result of the investigation into the administration of leading life insurance companies in the neighboring republic has naturally created some uneasiness in the public mind as to the condition of Canadian companies. A commission has, therefore, been issued to enquire into and report on the management and financial standing, not only of companies holding Canadian charters, but also of all companies doing business under license in Canada.

"Satisfactory progress is being made in the exploration and surveys of the eastern division of the National Transcontinental Railway, and it is expected the contracts for the construction of two important sections, embracing together about 400 miles, will shortly be executed.

"The interim report of the Canadian section of the International Waterways Commission will be laid before you. The work of the joint commission has been somewhat delayed, owing to a doubt as to the jurisdiction of the American section. The great development of commerce on the waters dividing the two countries, and the opportunities for the generating of electric power at many points necessarily involve questions which can only be dealt with by international arrangement or treaty. At Niagara the commission will have to consider how best to preserve the scenic effect of the falls while not unduly restricting the use of the flow of the Niagara River, so valuable for power purposes.

"A report has been received from the Transportation Commission, containing several important recommendations. The document will be laid before you.

"The legal experts appointed to revise, classify and consolidate the public general statutes passed since the revision in 1896 have completed their task, and it is expected that the volumes will be ready for distribution before July.

"A measure for the better observance of the Lord's Day will be submitted for your consideration.

"You will be invited to consider among other subjects bills to amend the railway act, the fruit marks act, an act respecting usury, and also the Dominion elections act.

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons: 'The accounts for the past year will be laid before you, the estimates for the nine months embracing a portion of the proposed fiscal year terminating on March 31, 1907, will be submitted for your approval at an early date.

"Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate: 'Gentlemen of the House of Commons: 'I invite your earnest attention to the several subjects I have mentioned and to the general business that will come before you, and trust your deliberations will be guided by wisdom and moderation."

THE FIGHT

WITH MOROS

Natives Used Woman and Children
as Shields in Meloe

Manila, Mar. 14. — Major-General Wood, who has arrived here has announced that he assumes full responsibility for the fight against the Moros at Dajo Hill near Jolo. He said that there was no wanton destruction of women and children in the fight, though many of them were killed by force of necessity because the Moros used them as shields in the hand to hand fighting.

A LOCAL NATIONAL POLICY

The city of London wants protection against the people who go there and sell it things below the current price. These people give the city an unfavorable balance of trade and all the evils which that is supposed to entail. They make London a slaughter market. They dump their goods in London and the city has no anti-dumping legislation to protect itself. They destroy London's industries and force her sons to go abroad seeking employment. The people of the Forest City are aroused, and they demand protection against the devastating deluge of foreign goods. The city wants the right to exclude by a protective tariff, an anti-dumping duty, or some other suitable and appropriate kind of impost, this injurious influx of goods. These people with goods to sell have ever been, from some points of view, a menace to general prosperity. Moral suasion does not seem to be effective with the people of London. It is useless to point out to them that they are injuring the city and giving aid and comfort to its enemies by allowing or countenancing this commercial invasion. They are not affected by the argument that commerce is war, and the enemy without the gates should be carefully excluded. In fact, they welcome the destructive invasion and will not heed the advice to protect their local interests. Nothing will move them to wisdom but the strong arm of the law. London raises the old and unsolved problem of the protection unit. If it is beneficial to exclude goods from Canada should it not be proportionately beneficial to exclude them from Ontario, Middlesex county, or London city? The area of a protection unit has never been defined. The only protection writer who has shown an appreciation of the existence of the problem flounders ridiculously in seeking a logical solution. None of the aphorisms which are invented to sustain what protectionists wish to sustain, will fit the London situation. They cannot say: "We will trade freely with every country (except Britain) that trades freely with us." That serves its purpose in Dominion protection, but will not apply to London's case. Our sister city will have to be content with such defence against dumping as can be set up by straining the manifold provisions of the assessment act and municipal act. This province has not yet embarked in the local protection of a tax on commercial travellers, and is not likely to further aid in the refinement of protection to reach the municipalities.

Church Representatives Confer With Government Regarding Indian Education.

Ottawa, Mar. 14. — Rev. Dr. Carman, representing the Methodist church, Rev. Mr. Turnbull, of Ottawa, and Mr. Cassels, of Toronto, representing the Presbyterian church, and Canon Pollard, and Mr. Gisbourne, of Ottawa, representing the Anglicans, had a long interview today with Hon. Frank Oliver, in respect to Indian education, in the North-West. The question was talked over generally. The desire of the delegates was that some of the obligations now assumed by the churches in connection with Indian schools should be borne by the Dominion, so that they would be better able to meet the new and growing requirements expected from them on account of the large influx of immigration and the opening up of the new territory.

STOCK JUDGING SCHOOLS. The stock judging classes opened in the Massey-Harris buildings yesterday morning at ten o'clock, but owing to the scanty attendance of agriculturalists, was postponed until two o'clock and were carried on in the afternoon. These judging schools are conducted under the joint auspices of the Provincial Department of Agriculture and agricultural societies. They have proved a great benefit to the farmers of Alberta. The speakers, J. Standish and D. Anderson, arrived from Innisfail where the classes were well attended. T. Daly has charge of the animals during the session of the classes here, and T. B. R. Henderson is representing the Department.

There was a large attendance of farmers at yesterday afternoon's classes, and they took a deep interest in all the proceedings. D. Anderson, of Rugby, Ont., gave a lecture on dairy cows, showing what the desirable characters of a dairy cow should be. A dairy cow was brought before the classes for the purpose of illustration, and the farmers were given score cards containing a description of what a good dairy cow should be, with a scale of points. The students were instructed to examine the animal before them and mark their own scores. The scores were afterwards corrected by Mr. Anderson, who also gave a very instructive address on the feeding of dairy cattle.

Dr. Standish, V.S. of Walkerton, then addressed the students on horses, speaking particularly of heavy draught horses. The animal brought before them was a fairly good specimen of the heavy draught.

In the evening the farmers met again in Gariepy's hall and discussed the general agricultural topics, amongst others being the pork-packing industry.

EDMONTON MARKETS

Wheat.—So far as Edmonton is concerned, the wheat market is closed. The Dowling Milling people and the Alberta Milling Co. have ceased to buy wheat altogether, and there is nothing doing at the elevators.

The milling companies state that they are full up. Edmonton farmers have always received a price above the market, and probably one of the principal reasons why Edmonton buyers are out of the market is that the Chicago prices in May wheat have been dropping fast, so fast, that they have dropped twelve cents within the past three months.

Oats.—Deliveries in oats are still steady however, and the prices are varying but little. Brackman-Ker are buying at 26c for milling oats, and the price for feed is about 23 to 25. The deliveries on the city market are good.

McDougall & Secord are paying 25c for the best print butter and are offering 15 cents for fresh eggs.

The Whitelaw Co. are offering for best print butter, from 20 cents to 25c, and for tubs, from 18c to 22c. For eggs they are paying 15c.

The prices quoted by Gariepy & Lesard are for print butter 20 to 25c, for tubs, 18-20c; and for eggs, 20 cents.

CHILD BURNT IN WINNIPEG

Fireman Arrive too Late to Save the Little One

Winnipeg, Mar. 15. — Smothered by smoke and with one little arm burnt to a crisp, the 18-months old child of A. W. Lord, Scotland, avenue, was carried from the burning residence yesterday. Life was extinct when the child was found lying on a sofa in a room on the ground floor. The mother and another child were out of doors when the fire began and before they could reach the front door after noticing the flames the way to the rescue lay through a wreath of flames. When the firemen arrived they were told that there was a child in danger and six or seven firefighters at once rushed into the burning dwelling. They succeeded in reaching the child, only to find that it had perished.

Madoc, Ont., and was born there on November 30th, 1872. His father was Thomas Cross, a merchant. Upper Canada College was the scene of his early school days, after which he graduated from Toronto University with the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Law and Logic. He went to Osgoode hall to study law and was articled to the firm of Clute, McDonald, McIntosh and McCrimmon. When he completed his course he headed for Edmonton, and has been here ever since in the practice of his profession. Mr. Cross is a young man of distinguished ability. He has always been active in politics. He has been a lacrosse player and can still talk athletics. For the past four years he has been president of the Edmonton District Liberal Association. He is a good speaker and clever debater, with a comprehensive grasp of public affairs. In 1900 he visited his old home in Madoc and was married to Miss Annie E. Lynde, daughter of F. C. Lynde. Mr. Cross is a Presbyterian in religion.

HON. MR. CUSHING

William Henry Cushing is also a native of Ontario, the place of his birth being Kenilworth in the county of Wellington. His father, Wm. Cushing, was a farmer. He received a public school education, and followed the business of contracting until 1883, when he located in Calgary, and is now the head of the firm of Cushing Bros., cash and shoe manufacturers, which was established in 1900. Branches of this firm have been opened here and in Regina, and at other points. Mr. Cushing has been one of the most successful business men in Alberta. He has been mayor of Calgary, and for a number of years alderman. He has been president of the board of trade. He has been twice married, his present wife being formerly Miss Mary Waters, of Kenilworth. He is a prominent member of the Methodist church.

HON. MR. FINLAY

William Thomas Finlay is a native of Ireland, being the only member of the cabinet who is not Canadian born. He was born at Lisburn, Ireland, on July 12, 1852. After a private education under the tuition of Rev. Mr. White, he came to Canada in 1874, and received employment with merchants in Montreal. Mr. Finlay has been a resident of Alberta for 22 years. In 1885 he came west and settled in his present home in Medicine Hat, where he first engaged in the lumber business. Since that time, however, he has been interested in ranching, having organized the Medicine Hat Ranching Company, which has large ranches in Southern Alberta. He has paid a great deal of attention to ranching and agricultural matters and is well fitted for the portfolio which he holds. He has been a very prominent citizen of Medicine Hat. He was chief magistrate in 1901 and 1902, and is the father of municipal ownership in that city. He has been president of the Medicine Hat hospital for nine years. In the general election of 1902 he was elected to the legislative assembly of the North West Territories. In 1903 he was married to Miss Catherine A. Allott, of Newark, England. In religion he is a Presbyterian.

HON. DR. LEVEBER

Hon. L. G. DeVeber, Minister without portfolio, was born in St. John, N.B., on the 10th of February, 1849. He was educated at the collegiate institute at Windsor, and at King's College. He carried on his study of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, and also at Philadelphia and Bartholomew Hospital, London, Eng. He practised his profession in St. John from 1873 to 1881. In 1828 he joined the R. N. W. M. P., and came west. He left the Mounted Police in 1885, when he went to Macleod to practice. He left Macleod in 1891 and settled in Lethbridge. During the rebellion he served as surgeon in the Rocky Mountain Rangers. In 1898 he was elected by acclamation to the Northwest Legislature for Lethbridge electoral district, and was again successful in the elections of 1902. Dr. DeVeber has within the past week been appointed to the Dominion Senate, and this will necessitate his early retirement from the local House.

THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE

C. W. Fisher, the member for Banff, it is understood will be speaker of the first Legislature for the province. Mr. Fisher is a comparatively young man, having been born at Hyde Park, near London, Ont., on August 4th, 1866. He was educated at the public schools in London, and for a while carried on the hardware business in that city. He came west in 1898, and located in Cochrane, a village forty miles from Banff, where he has resided since. He carries on a general store business there, and is considered to be one of the most far-seeing business men in the province. In 1903, he was elected to the Northwest Assembly to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Hon. A. L. Sifton to the Bench. In the election for the assembly for the new province he defeated Dr. Brett, who was looked upon as the probable leader of the Conservative party. He is major of the 15th Light Horse, the regiment newly organized in southern Alberta.

P. A. ALKER.

Frank A. Walker, the member for Fort Saskatchewan, is a Canadian by birth, having come west with his parents in '81, from Luanan, Ont. Spending a year in Winnipeg, Mr. Walker's father and mother came out to Agriculture before a railway was thought of in this country, and Frank A. has acquired the experience of life right here in Northern Alberta, having been engaged in farming, stock-raising and storekeeping at Agriculture and Fort Saskatchewan. Mr. Walker has always been an active worker on the Liberal side of politics, having held the post of secretary, and acted, ex-officio, as it were, as the spirit and mainstay of the party at the Fort, and his election to the legislature was undoubtedly his due.

J. R. BOYLE.

John R. Boyle, the member for Sturgeon, is a native of the county of Lambton in the Province of Ontario and comes from a family of Liberals who were active and energetic party workers in the days when Honorable Alexander MacKenzie and Timothy Blair Pardee were laying the foundations of Liberalism in Canada. John R. acquired his education in the old Sarnia High School, an educational institution which has probably turned out a larger percentage of public men than any other of Canada's public schools. He came west to Alberta 16 years ago and has fought the battle of life from country school teacher to representative and is counted one of the Cabinet-timber members of the legislature. At the last election he turned what looked like a hopeless defeat in Sturgeon into a brilliant victory and there is every reason to believe that the farmers of that constituency have placed their confidence wisely. Mr. Boyle is the strenuous advocate of advanced legislation on the government side. During his service in the city council he has stood for municipal ownership straight and he goes into the legislature firm in the belief that the province should own the telephones and every other franchise that rightly could come under government control and operation. Mr. Boyle is a lawyer by profession and a member of the firm of Taylor, Boyle & Garrity, of this city.

F. S. BREDIN.

Fletcher S. Bredin, the member for Athabasca, is one of the kind of men who have made Alberta what she is today. It was twenty-four years ago when Mr. Bredin, as a young man with the world before him, struck out for the expansive, golden west, and with the foresight which has placed him on the sunny side of easy street, chose Alberta as his field of operations. Stomach was his native place and Mr. Bredin fell heir to that priceless heritage which the old rock-ribbed county back in Ontario usually imparts to her sons—a good physique and indomitable grit. Ten years ago Mr. Bredin saw the opportunities of the fur-trading, merchandizing and ranching business in the great north land and with his partner Mr. Cornwall, succeeded in planting posts throughout a large area of that country, which business they relinquished only a few days ago to Revillon Bros. for a handsome figure. Mr. Bredin has fought the battles of life single-handed, never having contracted the matrimonial habit. Politics with him, has been merely a side line until the last election he never offered his name to the electorate in any capacity.

Mr. Bredin's extensive knowledge of the north country will be of inestimable value to the Government.

T. A. BRICK.

T. A. Brick, the recently-elected member for Peace River is not a native of Alberta, but he is one of the earliest residents. Mr. Brick's father, as a church of England missionary, carried the gospel into the Hay River and Peace River country over a quarter of a century ago and "Allie" Brick, the choice of the north constituency, was brought up in what Kipling calls an outpost of empire. Mr. Brick has followed farming and milling all his life and has been identified with every movement toward the advancement of the north country.

W. C. HIEBERT.

W. C. Hiebert, of Daishury, one of the members of the Conservative opposition of two, belongs to a family with a history. Over two hundred years ago, owing to religious persecutions in the old state of Holland, his ancestors left the Dutch domains and went to the then unorganized country in the south of Russia. In 1876 the spirit of persecution overtook the family again and Mr. Hiebert's parents moved again as his ancestors had done two centuries before, but this time to a country that was really free—Manitoba. Mr. Hiebert was born in Russia, but received his education in Southern Manitoba and has seen the prairie provinces, which were a vast untamed plain when his people came west in search of liberty, growth and fill and become great. Six years ago he left Manitoba and came to Alberta, settling at Daishury, where he has been more or less active in municipal affairs ever since. Mr. Hiebert is a married man and he brings Mrs. Hiebert and his daughter to the city to be present at the opening.

J. P. MARCELLUS

J. P. Marcellus of Pincher Creek is an Ontario by birth but he is an old timer in Alberta. In 1888 he came to this country from Dundas, Ont., and commenced farming and ranching in the bunch grass country down in the foothills. In these days the only fences were the Red River and the Rocky Mountains and Mr. Marcellus has seen all the evolutions of the country from cow camps to irrigated wheat. He is what might be called a charter member of the Liberal party in Alberta and while he has never broken into politics before he has had a very extensive experience in the county council matters down south and will undoubtedly be a very valuable man in the new government. Mr. Marcellus has been married these many years and has six boys down in the south country who are helping to build up Alberta.

WILL SUPPRESS THE LEAGUE

Proclamation, to Exterminate Jews.
Printed in Official Printing Office

St. Petersburg, Mar. 15.—At today's session of the cabinet, Premier Witte who was warmly supported by Prince Obolensky, procurator general of the Synod, and Count John Tolstol, Minister of Education, insisted upon the suppression of the organization known as the "League of Russian People," through which the agitation of the reactionary "Black Hundred" is propagated. The police prefect was summoned to the meeting and asked to explain how it happened that the publication of a proclamation calling for the extermination of the Jews was printed in the official printing office attached to his department. The prefect denied having any knowledge of the printing. However, it was established that the plot to produce a counter revolution in the hope of sweeping away the reforms outlined in the manifesto of October had its origin in the court cabal.

SPECIAL SALE

It's getting to the time of the year when everything Wintery must be put on the "retired list"—so far as his store is concerned; yet, two full wearing months are ahead.

A better chance to buy Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, for less than actual value

NEVER PRESENTED ITSELF

Our Suits, Fur and Overcoats must vacate. We don't want a wedge of Fall or Winter stock when we open the Spring Campaign, and we won't have it if we can help it. Can you afford to miss a sale when the prices touch your purse so gently?
